Our virtue of the week is PATIENCE.

We say, "Patience is a virtue", but do we know what that means? You have patience if you can accept or tolerate delay, trouble, or suffering without getting angry or upset.

This is valuable quality, and must be exercised when interacting with others, especially young children. Next time your child tests your patience, explain to them how you were able to calmly address them because of patience!

WCEA Western Catholic Educational Association

Saint Anne Catholic School is accredited by the Western Catholic Educational Association (WCEA). We are pleased to report that we have now completed our school's Self Study and look forward to welcoming the WCEA Visiting Committee to our school next month. In addition to assessing the Catholic identity of the school, the process involves looking at multiple measures: test scores, student satisfaction, parent satisfaction, graduation rates, and acceptance rates at Catholic High Schools. Staff education level, experience, willingness to participate in ongoing professional development, assessment of students and the curriculum, teaching methods and resource management are also part of the evaluation that determines the next steps for the school and leads to a successful accreditation visit. We are looking forward to hosting the Visiting Committee in February. Saint Anne is a fantastic school with great teachers, students, parents, and support, and we will be proud to show it off.
